

Lukasz Stolinski, PT, PhD

Mr Stolinski graduated from physical education (in 2005) with a MSc degree and physiotherapy (in 2006) with a bachelor's degree. In 2016, he graduated his healthy science on photographic assessment of the body posture of children with PhD degree.

He works from 2007 until now in private physiotherapy clinic – Spine Disorders Centre in Skierniewice with patients with functional and structural spine disorders. Since 2009 until now, he is cooperating also as a physiotherapist in Rehasport Clinic in Poznan and since Spine Disorders and Pediatric Orthopedic Clinic, Department of Pediatric Orthopedics and Traumatology, University of Medical Sciences in Poznan (Poland), directed by Professor Tomasz Kotwicki, with clinical and research activity.

He is a member of the scientific education committee of the International Society on Scoliosis Orthopaedic and Rehabilitation Treatment (SOSORT) and a member of International Research Society on Spinal Deformities (IRSSD). Since 2016 he is a member of Task Force directed by the Polish Academy of Sciences for the field of scoliosis diagnostic. His current research focuses on photographic assessment of healthy children and children with faulty postures and scoliosis.

He is an author and co-author of Polish and international scientific papers in a field of body posture diagnostic and physiotherapy treatment for patients with scoliosis.